COUPLE HURT WHILE ON THEIR WAY HOME

Our clients were driving eastbound on Mud Road when a minivan that was headed southbound failed to stop at a stop sign and collided with our clients. Our clients were rushed to Toledo Hospital with what appeared to be severe injuries. One of our clients who was injured in the accident has four fractured ribs, two lower back bone fractures and multiple contusions. The other client who was riding in the vehicle is suffering from fractures in her neck and spine, broken ribs and a broken wrist and hand.

SAFETY HARNESS BROKE WHILE ON THE JOB

Our client was pouring concrete. While he was holding the hose that fed the concrete mixer, he had a co-worker who was pouring the mix into the machine and negligently causing an explosion. The explosion forced our client against a concrete wall. Our client suffered from a closed head injury, four broken ribs, two broken vertebrae and he now has difficulty breathing.

As of right now the Daughter Project home will be the only shelter in Ohio for sex trafficking victims. The home will hold six girls and three house moms, who will be living with the girls. The girls will receive medical care and education. Many of the girls have been out of school for a year to a year and a half. By providing them with much needed education they could potentially receive their GED.

The Daughter Project has done many fundraisers, including an Adopt-A-Daughter campaign, to build the house, employ workers and raise awareness about the sex trafficking industry taking place right here in Ohio. It is estimated that there are nearly 2,000 victims from Ohio and nearly 30,000,000 worldwide. Toledo has been cited by the FBI as a top U.S. recruitment city for trafficking children.
LESSONS MY KIDS TAUGHT ME

BY CHUCK BOYK

I had a peaceful and care free life until age 37. I got married at age 35 and our first child Emily arrived when I was 37. Now age 53, I have four kids ranging from ages 9-16, and my life is full of kid sports, homework, and kid activities. I thought I had all the answers in raising kids until I became a father. I now realize that I did not have a clue. I took my kids home with a set of directions or that I had taken a good college class on the subject.

Following are six of the lessons my kids have taught me over the years:

1) Losing your temper makes the situation worse. It is a way to lose your temper when your kids do not act as responsibly. Not doing your best in school, arguing, not helping around the house, and not watching TV in front of the TV, or on video games or social media are just some of the challenges of parent day parenting. I have found through painful experience that stepping back and thinking through the problem and then “talking” instead of “yelling” works the best.

2) Encouragement works better than criticism. In my adult life, I am motivated by criticism. I want to prove my critics wrong. I expected my kids to want to prove my critics wrong. Doesn’t work.

3) Both parents need to work together for the best parenting result. I have great instincts in evaluating a personal injury case, negotiations, and marketing a business. Anything mechanical or dealing with sports. Observing their many successes is a source of pride for me to have the identity of “Emily, Sarah, Jacob, and Joshua’s Dad.”

4) My kids respond to encouragement. Simple directions or that I had taken a good college class on the subject.

5) I have an unwritten schedule of when my kids should mature into certain behaviors. I have

6) Frustration is the most important attribute of a good parent. I have an unwritten schedule of when my kids should mature into certain behaviors. I have been frustrated over the years when they don’t adopt behaviors on my time schedule. I have

TEAM J5 IS FINISHING 3V3 SEASON RANKED 5TH IN NATION

TEAM J5 is an acronym using all of the girls first names. (L to R) Sarah Boyk, Tori Jefferies, Morgan Swerlein, Jodi Fowler, Allysa Galernik, and Emma Barney. The team’s name comes from the girls’ first letters of their first names. They have a record of 53-13-2 overall! Not too bad when true! Team J5 ended the 3-day tournament with a 4-5 record, but they were either tied or winning EVERY one of their games at half-time that they eventually lost. To put it in another perspective, they scored 35 goals while only giving up 32. Out of the EID bracket, only 1 team came unbeaten. Congratulations Team J5 to another fun year of 3v3 soccer!
LESSONS MY KIDS TAUGHT ME
BY CHUCK BOYK

I lead a peaceful and carefree life until age 37. I got married at age 35 and our first child, Emily, arrived when I was 37. Now at age 53, I have four kids ranging from ages 9-16, and my life is full of kid sports, homework, and kid activities.

I thought I had all the answers in raising kids until I became a father. I now realize that I did not have a clue. I wish my kids had come with a set of directions or that I had taken a good college class on the subject.

Following are six of the lessons my kids have taught me over the years:

1) Losing your temper makes the situation worse. It is easy to lose your temper when your kids do not act appropriately. Do not do your best in school, arguing, not helping around the house, and too much time in front of the TV, or on video games or social media are just some of the challenges of daytime parenting. I have found through painful experience that stepping back and thinking through the problem and then “calming” instead of “yelling” works the best.

2) Encouragement works better than criticism. In my adult life, I am motivated by criticism. I work the best.

3) Patience is the most important attribute of a good parent. I have an unscheduled schedule of when my kids should mature into certain behaviors. I have been frustrated over the years when they don’t adopt behaviors on my time schedule.

4) Both parents need to work together to build the best parenting result. I have great moments in evaluating a personal injury case, negotiations, and marketing a business. Anything mechanical or dealing with my kids is something I do not have natural instincts about. My wife Joann has strong opinions and natural instincts of how to raise the kids.

5) Be calm under emotional pressure. I have a natural instinct to overreact when those emotional pressures are on. My kids taught me that in those situations logic, and a calm approach yields better results. An example of her grace under pressure happened last winter. Our female Doberman “Jazzie” escaped from the fenced yard and ran to our ice covered pond. The ice collapsed and Jazzie was struggling and ran to the pond to save her. Without considering whether or not the ice would support me, I went out on the ice to help her. Sarah’s calmness saved the day.

6) Enjoy your kids while you can. It is a pleasure to watch my kids grow and mature, excel at academics and compete in sports. Observing their many successes is fantastic. Watching them fail is tough but often leads to the best life lessons. It is a great source of pride for me to have the identity of “Emily, Sarah, Jacob, and Josh’s Dad.”

They will get there. Maybe not when I want them to, but they will get there. I have learned to have patience and faith in my kids.

TEAM J5 is a 3v3 soccer team comprised of U14 PSC Impact players. Finished the 2011 season strong by taking 3rd place at the Kick It National 3v3 Championships at Disney’s Wide World of Sports this January. There are teams who have competed in the Kids 3v3 tournament year from over 40 different states, with over 1000 teams. They won a local championship in a clea

TEAM J5 finishes 3v3 season ranked 5th in nation

The girls’ team of 6 has been playing 3v3 tournaments together since 2006 (and have been playing 3v3 tournaments together since 2000). All 6 girls play on the same club soccer team - PSC Impact from Perrysburg, coached by Jorge Diaz. Since they started playing the Kids 3v3 tournaments, they have produced a record of 53-13-2 overall. Not too bad when you consider most teams they face from other states have won from 10-15 of the 60-65 games just for the 3v3 competitions! They have also had the privilege of playing teams from 18 different states. They have even been ranked as high as #1 in the nation too.

The team’s name comes from the girls’ first letters of their first names. ...To (Jeffferson), Emma (Barney), Alyssa (Golen), Morgan (Swierczek), Jessie (Fowler), and Sarah (Boyk). During the 3v3 tournaments they are “coached” (and we say that loosely) by Brian Fowler and Tim Barney.

This year’s tournament was broken down into 2 different groups: the EID (Elite Invitational Division) and their normal Gold bracket. The EID was an “application only” division for teams who have either been ranked or have proven to be good enough to bear ranked teams over the year. Team J5 applied and was accepted into the EID along with teams from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas, Florida, and Nevada.

The EID bracket proved to be the best combined competition at any event the team has every played. Each team had the ability to beat any of the other teams - and it definitely came into another perspective, they scored 35 goals while only giving up 32. Out of the EID bracket, only 1 team came unbeaten.

Congratulations Team J5 to another fun year of 3v3 soccer!

Couple Hurt While on Their Way Home

Our clients were driving eastbound on Murd Road when a minivan that was headed southbound failed to stop at a stop sign and collided with our clients. Our clients were rushed to Toledo Hospital with what appeared to be serious injuries. One of our clients who was injured in the accident has four fractured ribs, two lower back bone fractures and multiple contusions. The other client who was riding in the vehicle is suffering from fractures in her neck and foot, broken ribs and a broken wrist.

Injured on the Job

Our client reported for work and was instructed to repair a hole in the grain silo. The crane came up and he was placed in a bosun chair and harnessed. As they were lifting our client 80 feet up to where the repair needed to take place, our client’s chair got caught on the cable, but the crane operator kept lifting him. Our client was jerking and swinging in the air when a co-worker from the top of the silo finally got the attention of the crane operator and stopped the crane.

The coffee harness broke, our client now suffers from a crushed hip and groin as well as severe injuries to his back.
