TOLEDO, Ohio — A family filed a lawsuit Monday against a funeral home owner after the bodies of 11 people intended for cremation, some in a state of decay in a damp garage.

The wife of a 55-year-old man who died in May accused the funeral home owner of mismanaging the bodies by failing to have them embalmed or properly refrigerated as required by state law.

The man's family said that they noticed during the funeral on May 26 for Thomas (name redacted) that he looked bloated and there was a strong odor near the casket.

Ohio's funeral directors board last week suspended the licenses for both Tate Funeral Home director, Robert Tate Jr., saying that he had treated 10 bodies in a way that would outrage families and community sensibilities.

Police helped the county coroner's office remove the bodies of 10 adults and a premature infant from the funeral home on May 29. Most of the bodies were stored in cremation boxes and body 1 had been there since January, officials said.

A statement from the funeral home said it provided embalming in accordance with state law and that any delay in cremation resulted from physicians failing to provide death certificates in a timely manner.

A message seeking comment on the lawsuit was left for the funeral home's attorney on Monday.

The lawsuit says that Michelle Gaston and her daughters have suffered emotional distress and anguish since finding out the body may have been mistreated. They are seeking monetary damages.

A state inspector said in a report filed by the funeral directors board that he went to the funeral home after receiving a complaint from a relative who said the cremation of her uncle's body was tainted.

The inspector said he found several human remains in cremation containers and body bags inside a garage with a leaking roof and wet floor.
