A teenager was critically injured when the car she was a passenger in lost control and wrapped around a telephone pole. She endured an extensive hospital stay and suffered a punctured liver. She is currently out of school and will have to follow up with doctors for at least the next few months.

A 74-year-old woman suffered serious injuries when her vehicle collided with another during a turn. The rescue squad transferred her to the hospital, where she stayed for several days. The accident caused our client to suffer multiple fractures to her left hip, pelvis, sternum and ribs. It will take several months for her to recover from these injuries. A woman was knocked unconscious when a negligent driver pulled out into the road from a private drive and struck her vehicle. She was taken via ambulance to the hospital, where she spent the night. She suffered multiple injuries, including contusions to her face, breast, arm and stomach. She also hit through both sides of her tongue.

The tournament officials awarded Team JS 6th place; final standings were calculated through an unexplained formula. The disappointment of not being able to compete was lessened somewhat when the weather cleared the rest of the tournament before the girls had a chance at the reigning number one team.

The girls fought their way to the quarterfinals with wins over teams from Oklahoma, Texas, and Cleveland. A third place finish at the Midwest regional in Racine, Wisconsin qualified the team for the Walt Disney World Championship at the Wide World of Sports in January 2011. The girls were stacked up against the world’s best players in their age group.

The girls’ mission began in the summer of 2010 when they swept the unofficial Ohio championship by winning the 3v3 tournaments in Cincinnati, Columbus, and Cleveland. A third place finish at the Midwest regional in Racine, Wisconsin qualified the team for the Walt Disney World Championship at the Wide World of Sports in January 2011. The girls were stacked up against the world’s best players in their age group. They were set to play the defending world champions from Texas when the weather took over. A massive rain and lightning storm canceled the rest of the tournament before the girls had their chance at the reigning number one team.

The first step in Dr. Ancell’s work is evaluating the client and looking at the history of their employment and injuries, their limitations, and other important topics. The client then undergoes a series of tests for achievement, aptitude, and interests. After a review of medical and employment records and after significant legal research and the filing of a lawsuit, I was able to find considerable additional insurance coverage that allowed us to recover a total of $150,000 for the victim.

This positive result has motivated me to handle thousands of injury cases over the past 27 years and make such cases my niche area in practicing law. To this date, I have been the lead attorney in over 100 trials. There are several other reasons that continue to motivate me to practice personal injury law:

1. We represent the individual against the large insurance company.
2. The seriously injured client needs strong representation to recover money damages that may be crucial to their future.
3. Creativity, experience, and hard work are essential to maximizing recovery for the client.
4. The attorney is paid on a contingency basis, so the attorney and client work as a team for the best possible result.
5. It is a blessing for me that I found this area of law. I look forward to going to the office every day. It is not work— it is a passion.
