One Year After Tragic Accident, Husband Still Grieving The Love Of His Life

After 17 years of marriage, Duane and Diana Shively seemed to have it all. Diana had cared for him and was not having the care and companionship of someone in his corner. She suggested the same to need constant in-home care for five weeks. Duane was protected legally in the same way.

Duane told Diana that it had always been her dream to build a house near the woods on her family’s property in Grand Rapids, Ohio. In 2011 they built what was supposed to be their forever home. It was where their grandchildren would come over to play, where they would do fun activities, constantly read, and where Diana would create beautiful carpets from glass and wood. But in the winter of 2017, Duane’s life would change forever.

“He weathered the snow on that particular day, January the 10th,” Duane said. “I used to Diana, ‘just let me take you to Kroger and I’ll come and pick you up and take you home so we can be together’ because the roads were icy and it wasn’t the best of days.”

“We got on Route 6 and as we were driving east, and as we got closer to the bridge where the accident occurred, it was a little bit more treacherous at that time. All the sudden I saw a pick-up truck in my pathway, and there wasn’t anything else for me to do but turn the wheel and try to get away from it. It had gone across the center line and was coming right at us. It was a helpless feeling when you look over and see your wife with her eyes closed and her head laying back. You can hear the sirens getting closer and closer. And I said to her, ‘Honey, they can’t get here quicker because the roads are bad. I love you. I want you to stay with me.’ I leaned over and kissed her a few times. I was trying to do whatever I could to talk with her and encourage her to not lose faith. At that point I was devastated and shaking mode. I just couldn’t believe it.”

Duane talked to the police while Diana was examined by EMS. Shortly thereafter, two EMS technicians came over and told him that his wife did not make it.

It was the Shively’s good friend, neighbor, and health care advocate Allison Roller who helped care for Duane during his months of recovery after losing Diana. Both of his ankles were sprained, he had swelling in both of his knees, and deep bone bruising, in addition to fractures and deep lacerations in his hands that caused him to need constant in-home care for five weeks.

But what was even more reassuring for Duane was not having the care and companionship of his beloved Diana. Duane had cared for him and helped him through cancer two years prior and now he was alone, navigating through physical therapy, doctors’ appointments, and visits with the orthopedic surgeons. Allison scorn pointed out that he could not go on alone, without the help of someone in his corner. She suggested the same attorney that helped her through her car accident and contact was made with Boyk Law.

“I just knew after spending so much time with Duane that he needed to focus on his health and grieving the loss of Diana and not on all of the phones calls and paperwork that come along with dealing with the insurance company.”

Allison said. “When I told Chuck, everyone there took care of each tiny detail and I wanted to make sure that Duane was protected legally in the same way. Duane was personally visited at his home multiple times by attorney Chuck Boyk and various members of the team during the case so Boyk Law could build a strong case to prove to the insurance company just how devastating the accident was to the family. Video impact statements were created, photos were compiled, and interviews were conducted to piece together for a grieving family a story of how much they loved and missed their Diana, their wife, mother, and grandmother. Boyk Law was able to secure a substantial settlement. While it could never replace the love and devotion of that final January day, it provided for Diana’s memory so he kept alive without the worry of medical bills and funeral costs.

“You didn’t need even to say by that I don’t think about her,” said Diana’s daughter, Brianna. “When something good happens or something bad happens, that’s who I would call. My strongest is three and almost didn’t she will tell me that grandma is up in the clouds.”

At-Risk Woman Falls Twice After Being Left Unattended At Local Nursing Home

Both Law is helping the family investigate two tragic incidents that caused one woman to be hospitalized for multiple days. One client fell out of bed only 1 1/2 hours after arriving at the nursing home’s quiet facility, causing the need for a trip to the emergency room. CT scans, and a two-day stay. After returning for a second visit once she was released from the hospital to the nursing home, our client was left unattended and fell out of bed again, only 1 1/2 hours after her arrival. She was taken by ambulance to the local hospital where she was immediately transported to a trauma hospital to treat a fractured left eye socket, damage to her eye, and permanent disfigurement. After a long hospital stay, she was discharged to her home where she is under the care of hospice.

Client Left With Need For Surgery After Car Accident

Surgery was performed to repair the damage done to our client’s shoulder after the car she was riding in was struck by a vehicle that pulled out in front of them. After an initial emergency room visit on the day of the accident and x-rays of his chest and shoulder, our client visited his family physician for ongoing pain. He was referred to an orthopedic surgeon who advised that he get an MRI. The scan showed a muscle tear in his dominant arm and surgery was advised. The surgery placed anchors into the muscle and bone to reattach the muscle to the bone since the tear has been allowing joint fluid to leak, creating a cyst. Surgery After Car Accident

Worker Attacked By An Inmate At Local Jail, Suffers Traumatic Brain Injury

One inmate was unable to work nearly five weeks after she was left with a serious brain injury from being attacked by an inmate while working, at a local jail. During the attack, the inmate hit her on the head, causing her to temporarily lose consciousness. Both Law is working toward passing to the Bureau of Worker’s Compensation that the incident may have caused post-injury syndrome and that she will need further treatment.

TPS Proud Celebrates Winners at Glenwood Elementary

Bryan Lowe’s TPS Proud and Teacher of the Month award winners attended at Glenwood Elementary, as part of our programs aimed at highlighting the best of Toledo Public Schools.

Glenwood students created 32 teacher appreciation videos and the kids were adorable as they described as accurately how important their teachers are to them.

Christina Pietrzak and Yanna Scrutchins

Yanna’s nomination: She actually listens to me. She’s the music teacher and we do different performances and she is really nice.

Pietrzak’s nomination: My students are so happy when they get to work on music. She is an amazing teacher.

Student Winner: Dale Hines

Pietrzak’s nomination: Dale is always eager to lend a helping hand to peers as well as staff. He shows leadership skills in the classroom as he organizes the younger students with dress-up when they are done. He uses a voice that is calm yet firm enough to say, “Please sit down,” or, “What do you need?” I’ve witnessed his interaction with peers as socially and emotionally appropriate.

We need staff like Dale in the district.

Scrutchins nomination: She actually listens to me. She’s the music teacher and we do different performances and she is really nice.

Pietrzak’s nomination: My students are so happy when they get to work on music. She is an amazing teacher.

INGREDIENTS

- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 1 medium chopped onion
- 1 cup flour
- 2 cups half-and-half cream
- 2 cups chicken stock
- 8 ounces grated sharp cheddar cheese
- 1⁄4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1⁄4 cup flour
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 2. Cook melted butter and flour using a whisk over medium heat.
- 3. Slowly add the chicken stock and whisk again to combine. Simmer contents covered (stirring occasionally) for 20 minutes on medium heat.
- 4. Add the broccoli, carrots and the sautéed onion to your pan.
- 5. Add salt, pepper & nutmeg. (Special thanks to Ne’Gyle Beaman of Bleu Bowtique in Detroit for the custom bowtie Mike is wearing)
- 6. Once all the cheese has been added it melts, remove from heat, and serve immediately.

DIRECTIONS

- Heat the soup over low heat until it reaches a simmer.
- Enjoy your soup!
