After serving on the Board of Trustees since 2019, Attorney Katie Harris is proud to have been selected to be the 2021-2022 Chair of the Women's Caucus for the Ohio Association for Justice (OAJ). OAJ is Ohio's statewide organization for plaintiff's attorneys and works to protect and promote Ohioans' right to a fair and impartial civil justice system, including their constitutional right to trial by jury, through advocacy, education, and training.

As Chair of the Women's Caucus Section, Katie says that her top goals are "to increase engagement and strengthen professional relationships among our women members, promote our successes as trial lawyers, and work confirmed federal District Judge James R. Knepp, II. The Advisory Group meets twice a year in Cleveland to update the federal court on topics of interest to the community and legal profession and assist with implementing Court programs.

"My first job after law school was working as Judge Knepp's law clerk when he was a Magistrate Judge," Katie says. "It was an incredible experience that could not have given me a better foundation for the kind of lawyer I want to be. I'm so proud of him for his confirmation as a District Judge and honored that he thought of me for this position to give back to a court that means a lot to me personally."

Mass Torts In the News

Paraquat: Paraquat is a chemical herbicide that has been linked to Parkinson's disease. The manufacturers are facing a growing number of lawsuits brought by people who were exposed to the chemical and later developed Parkinson's Disease. This month, one of the first cases filed is set to go to trial in Illinois. The case is being closely watched as it will set the tone for future lawsuits.

Roundup: In ongoing litigation, an attempt by Bayer, the manufacturer of Roundup, to resolve future cancer claims has been shot down by the U.S. District Judge overseeing the case. Bayer proposed to pay as much as $2 billion to resolve future claims, but the Judge said that Bayer's proposal is "clearly unreasonable" to victims. The rejected settlement proposal represents a part of the broader $11.6 billion agreement to resolve ongoing Roundup lawsuits.

3M Military Earplugs: A federal jury in Florida recently decided that the 3M Company was liable for three former service members' hearing loss and tinnitus. The jury determined that 3M knew their earplugs were defective yet concealed the defects from the U.S. military and allowed service members to suffer life-altering hearing damage. The jury awarded them more than $7 million in damages.
